

KELLEY ELECTRIC COMPANY

- Kelley Electric provides electrical installation and maintenance, in-plant electrical service, installation of process and production control systems, power line construction and custom control panel design and manufacturing. Customers include industrial, commercial, institutional, power utilities and agricultural companies.
- A small company with an international flavor, Kelley Electric manufactures custom control panels for major electric motor manufacturing facilities around the world as well as regional cotton gins. Its crews install mass notification systems internationally and provide service for manufacturers in the food and beverage and other major processing industries.
- Over sixty (60) years of experience across a broad range of applications has led to a thorough knowledge and understanding of the performance standards expected by architectural firms, engineering firms, and manufacturing companies, in their need to meet commercial, industrial, institutional and government codes and standards efficiently and cost effectively.
